

Fermilab updates

Kurt Riesselmann

Community Advisory Board meeting

27 Sept 2018

First tracks seen in DUNE prototype detector

<http://news.fnal.gov/2018/09/first-tracks-in-prototype-for-neutrino-experiment/>

National Science Foundation awards grant to four US universities to work on DUNE

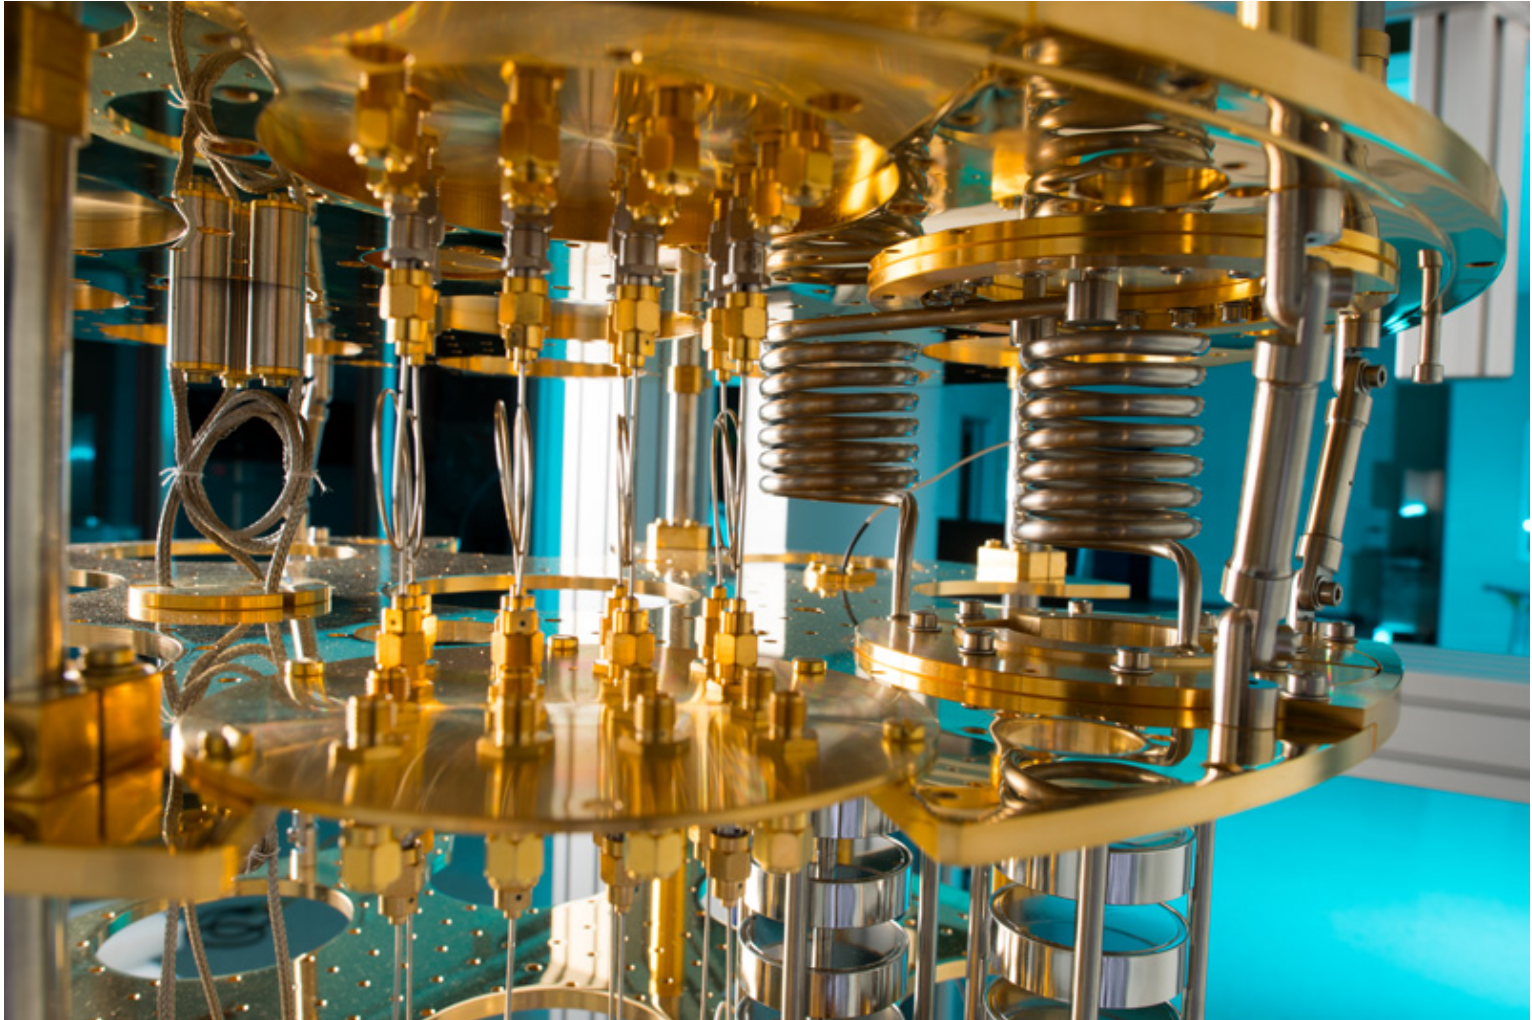

<http://news.fnal.gov/2018/09/dune-scientists-receive-nsf-grant/>

ICARUS neutrino detector installed in its new home at Fermilab

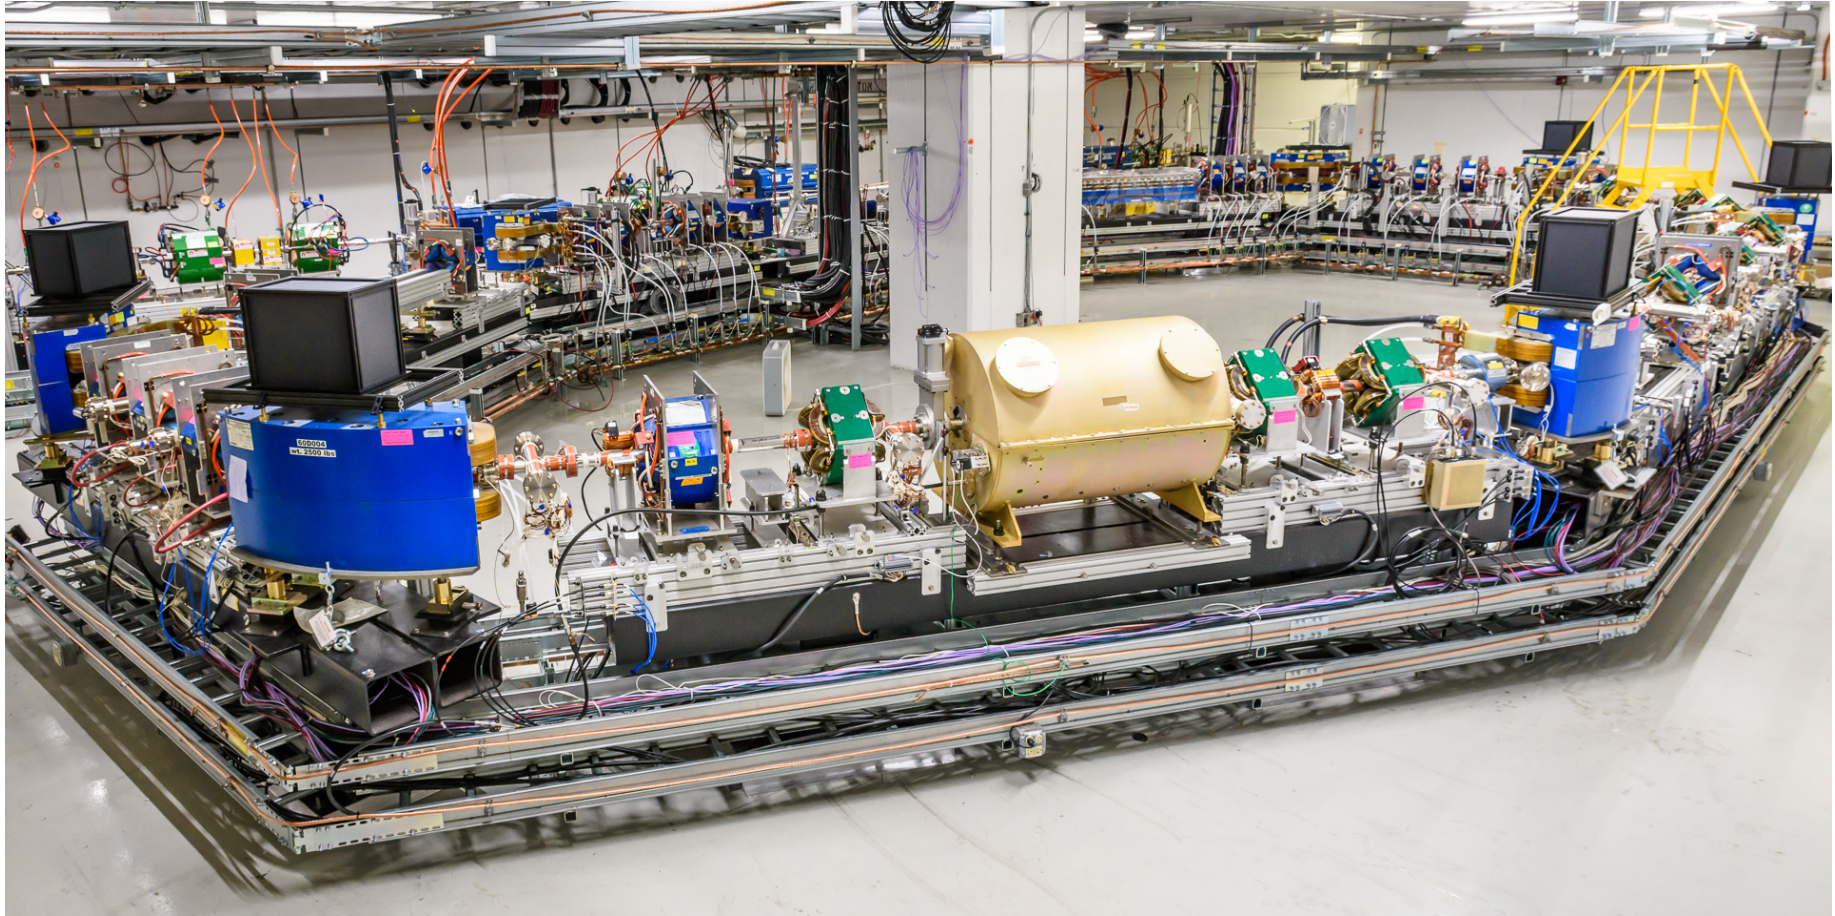

<http://news.fnal.gov/2018/08/icarus-neutrino-detector-installed-in-new-fermilab-home/>

Quantum science: Fermilab partners with Google

<http://news.fnal.gov/2018/09/fermilab-hosts-tutorial-from-google-as-part-of-unique-hands-on-workshop-on-quantum-information-science/>

New accelerator research program at Fermilab sees first beam

<http://news.fnal.gov/2018/08/new-accelerator-research-program-at-fermilab-sees-first-beam/>

Upcoming item:

- Annual tritium report by the DOE Fermi Site Office to report low levels of tritium in Fermilab sewage water
- Members of the Community Advisory Board will receive a copy of the email as well

